Waqf violence: 2 WB bros held for killing man-son

'Murshidabad Duo Dragged Outside, Killed'

Dwalpayan Ghosh &

Kolkata/Jangipur: Kolkata/Jangipur: Two brothers from Bengal's Murshidabad were arrested Tuestay on charges of hacking to death a father and son in Jafrabad, adjoining their native village, on April 12 after dissent over the new Waqf law descended into mob violence. "Kalu Nadah, aria residents of Digra village," additional director general of police (law and order) Jawed Shamim said. Dildar was arrested from

Amid spectre of violence, Bengal sees muted New Year celebration

Dhuliyan: Traders in Bengal Dnulyan: Traders in Bengal have a tradition of opening new "haalkhatas" (ledgers) on Polla Baisakh, marking the advent of the Bengali New Year: In violence-ravaged Murshidabad, the spirit of ce-lebration was replaced on Tu-esday by the silence of a bro-ken community.

estay by the stellars of a con-ken community.

Nemai Ghosh, a resident of Aurangabad in Suti, ope-ned his outlet Janapriya Swe-ets but had few customers. Shards of glass and remnants of a damaged shutter littered the storefront,

On Poila Baisakh, the sto-re usually has a queue of cus-tomers waiting to buy roso-gollas and shingaras (Bengali version of samosa). "We had received bulk orders and I was version to samiosa. We had received bulk orders and I was worried whether I could deliver on time. My workers arrived last night and we opened the store, but sales were nothing compared to what we get on this day. My only satisfaction is reopening my business after four days, "he said. In nearby Dhulian, Disarkar opened this three-decade-old grozery store at &un." Polla Baisakh is important to traders, "he said. "It is a tradition to start a new ledger on this dax...My family is anxious, but I could not stay home." For many others, there was little to celebrate. "My house was all but destroyed in the mob rioting," said elderly bobl Sardar, who returned to her home in Bethbona the previous day 8 he was one among several hundred residents who had crossed the Ganea to vious day. She was one among several hundred residents who had crossed the Ganga to take refuge in a Malda school. Murshidabad administration has started a survey to identify damaged homes. Around 80 have been listed so far. Relief and rehabilitation are likely to start Wednesday.

'TMC netas may have sparked violence with aid of B'deshis'

New Delhi: Preliminary reports reaching the home ministry on the communal outbreak in Murshidabad suggest that local Trinamool Congress leaders had allegedly prompted the Bangladeshi miscreants known to them and part of their "larger network", to trigger minor law and order disturbances so as to create an impression of public "outrage" against the waqf law amendments. Hower, these minor clashes soon ver, these minor clashes soon turned into full-blown com-munal violence as the Bangla-deshi elements went out of
